RE: W. K. Enterprise
DOE/037/024
San Juan County, Utah

On January 21, 1982, Tom Tetting and Sandy Pruitt inspected the W. K. Enterprise mine located along a north access from Highway 46 approximately one and one-half miles east of LaSal junction. Mike Shumway was present on-site and informed inspectors that mine development had been underway for about two and one-half months and had penetrated to within 300 feet of the uranium deposit. The mine pad was being built up with waste rock from the mine. The present disturbance was under two acres. A drainage channel along the west side of the pad was to be preserved in construction. No compliance problems were evident.
